Queer Character in Boston Claims Willimantic Residence.

A recent Boston paper contained the following:
A man, whose identity is a mystery, created a sensation on School street Saturday afternoon when he ran through that section, screaming and gestulating in a manner that frightened persons on the street and in their homes.
His screams, which could be heard half a mile away, attracted a crowd from all directions.
The man was subdued and taken into custody by Special Officer Nelson Girard, who turned him over to Deputy Sheriff Haven A. Roberts.
His next week. He told the sheriff he had $100,000 in the bank and was looking for 1,000 men and women to work in his factories.
He refused to give his name to the sheriff, but at the station told the newspaper correspondent his name was Joseph Mercer and that formerly he lived in Berlin, N. H. Later he said he had not been in Berlin for two years and had come there from Willimantic, Conn.
Later he offered a piece of blank paper to Deputy Sheriff George F. Wiggin, insisting that it was a check for $1,000.
The man is about 35, five feet eight inches tall, of dark complexion, and smooth shaven. His conversation points to a good education and some knowledge of business. He claims to know many people in Berlin. He speaks both English and French fluently and insists that he is not insane or foolish.
Nothing could be found in his clothing to reveal his identity and the sheriff and police are inclined to believe he may have escaped from some asylum.
No one is known here to whom the description would apply.

It is announced that the association that the glee club is one of the graduates of Sheffield Scientific school, and an engineer in the employ of the state, have been secured for their draughting class at the Y. TRYING TO FOOL THE ENEMY

EVEN WHEN FIGHTING IN TRENCHES

Even in the trenches the Irishman must have his joke. In the Dardanelles campaign, where the scene in the picture took place, he has been trying some of his tricks on the Turkish enemy by using his helmet as a gun. Sometimes he succeeds in drawing the fire of the enemy and making him waste his ammunition. In this case the Irishman was trying to locate a troublesome sniper. The report that came with the picture said the Turk was found and shot, but the Turkish side of the incident has not been told.

How She Acquired "Feminine Charm"

A "nicely-dressed woman sat beside me in the train. Everyone stared at her. It was not her beauty of feature, but her beauty of expression. But there was something about her face and expression—I liked it and asked: 'Would you mind telling me how you keep your complexion so daisy-like?' 'You see over 30, yet haven't a line in your face, and your cheeks are quite peach-like. How do you do it?' 'Laughing, she said: 'That's easy; I remove my skin. Sounds shocking, doesn't it? But listen. Instead of cosmetics I use only pure mercurized soap. This nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This gently abrades the soiled, weather-beaten skin. Without removing the clear, fresh complexion underneath, you know. Then, to ward off wrinkles, I use a face bath made of—' 'A harmless substance, which tones the skin wonderfully, which simple, isn't it?' 'I thought so. I'm now trying her plan like it is. I'm immensely—' 'Excellent! Brown in The Story Teller.

In general features and characteristics, they represent a small advance in size, but a much greater advance in efficiency. ## DO THIS FIRST—YOU!

You know, and every physician knows, that when any sickness has passed, whether it be throat trouble, organic disturbances, contagious diseases, or even a severe cold, a relapse is feared, because sickness robs the system of Nature's resistance and leaves it subject to lingering germs.

Drugs never build up a worn-out body—only food can do that, and the first thing to take after any sickness is the concentrated, blood-making, oil-food in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the tissues, benefits the blood and strengthens both lungs and throat.

Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion after sickness. Nurses everywhere advocate it. Scott's is pure medicinal food, without alcohol or drugs.

establish a policy of leaving civil disorders to the civil authorities.

Secretary of War Garrison, it is learned today, will call this session at an early date. The secretary is known to favor policing all industrial disturbances with non-military force, and opposing the maintenance of law and order in states where the local police forces are able to handle the situation.

The war department is very anxious to make the proposed "continentals" as popular and as successful as possible. It realizes that many of the shortcomings of the National Guard are to be traced to the opposition of the labor unions, opposition caused directly by the use of the National Guard in strikes.
